

Moonwater Birthing and Wellness Centre

A vibrant three midwife practice is in search of another team member. We work in a model of shared care and would ideally like to find a midwife looking for full-time employment, to be one of a team of three. However, we would also consider accommodating someone looking for part-time. We offer flexible scheduling that includes regular and frequent weeks off call as well as longer periods of off call time.

Moonwater Birthing is located in a heritage home in the desirable historic town of Fort Langley, “the birth place of BC”. This area is great for the out door enthusiasts as well as for those who enjoy the benefits of the big city. Vancouver is less then an hour away and nature access is even closer.

We serve the families of the Fraser Valley, including many repeat clients, with a planned homebirth rate of 50%. Visit our website www.moonwaterbirthing.com for more information.
